FINDING NEW WAYS

WHAT IS THE BICYCLE ROUTE PLANNER?

Hesse's bicycle route planner is a free of charge and easy-to-use internet application that enables cyclists to interactively plan their individual bicycle route.

Users can enter addresses or points of interest as starting points and destinations, or define these by navigating through and clicking on the map. Also, users can enter intermediate points, for example if they want their route to go past a specific place of interest.

Quickly, the application calculates the shortest or the most attractive route. Results come with details on route length, approximate ride time and a gradient profile. For those preferring a more comfortable trip, an alternative route avoiding steep inclines can be requested with just one click.

In addition, directions are provided alongside a broad offer of touristic and other useful information.

The only thing left for you to do is pedal!

WE KNOW GOOD ROUTES!

No clear idea on where to ride yet? Be inspired by the bicycle route planner. Within the "tour tips" function, it offers a variety of well-prepared tours which incorporate information on sights, accommodation, public transport access and even on the paths' surfaces. What about a tour along the river Main or through the Milseburg tunnel? All tours and themed routes within the state of Hesse are presented in a user-friendly way.

THE MOBILE BICYCLE ROUTE PLANNER

Normally planning a tour is done at home at the PC. Once the user has determined the desired route, it can be saved to a GPS-track file and transmitted to a mobile navigation device.

Alternatively, you can "pack" the bicycle route planner. The new bicycle route planner app for smartphones makes it possible for users to access the application en route. Detailed information on the app is provided on the bicycle route planner web site under "Bicycle route planner mobile".
